World Investment Report 2017 2017-06-07

The annual world investment report presents foreign direct investment (FDI) trends and prospects at global, regional, and national levels. It also analyses the latest developments in new policy measures for investment promotion, facilitation, and regulation around the world and provides the annual update on investment treaties, their reform, and investment dispute settlement cases. The 2017 edition, subtitled "Investment and the Digital Economy," investigates the internationalization patterns of digital multinationals (MNEs) as well as the digitization effect on the global companies across all industries. It will provide insights to policymakers on how the digital economy impacts investment policies and how investment policy can support digital development with a view towards achieving the sustainable development goals.

This report presents the latest trends in foreign direct investment (FDI) and contains an in-depth analysis of policy developments, investment prospects, and key emerging issues related to investment. The report finds that in 2016, global flows of FDI fell by about 2 per cent to $1.75 trillion. Investment in developing countries declined even more by 14 per cent, and flows to LEDCs and structurally weak economies remain volatile and low, althoughUNCTAD predicts a modest recovery of FDI flows in 2017. 2018, they are expected to remain well below their 2007 peak. Furthermore, this report builds on the track record and presents policy advice on how to deal with close to 3,000 old generation investment treaties, a key challenge for policymakers in today's global economy, is digital.

since china adopted its open door policy in 1978 which altered its development strategy from self sufficiency to active participation in the world market its goal has remained unchanged to assist the readjustment of china s the economy to coordinate its modernization programs and to improve its quality of life with the 1997 launch of the going global policy an outward focus regarding foreign investment was added to circumvent trade barriers and improve the competitiveness of Chinese firms in order to accommodate inward and outward investment. China's participation in the international investment regime has underpinned its efforts to join multilateral investment-related legal instruments and conclude international investment agreements. This collection, compiled by award-winning scholar Professor Julien Chaisse, explores the three distinct tracks of China's investment policy and strategy: bilateral agreements including those with the US and the EU, regional agreements including the free trade area of the Asia-Pacific, and global initiatives spearheaded by China's presidency of the G20 and its Belt and Road initiative. The book's overarching topic is whether these three tracks compete with each other or whether they complement one another, a question of profound importance for the country's political and economic future and world investment governance.

this book provides a thorough understanding of the key policy debates on international trade and investment for development with a focus on the east african community eac to strengthen member states capacity to develop policies to promote their exports competitiveness and diversification beyond member states the book serves as a base for a deeper understanding of the challenges opportunities and requirements of the intra continental trade agreement which is now in sight with the ratification of the tripartite eac comesa sadc free trade area that is critical in addressing key constraints to trade in the african continent moreover the lessons from this edited volume may also extend to the challenges and opportunities of the African Continental Free Trade Area. The book brings together a comprehensive overview and an evidence-based analysis that can be considered best practice in the region. The trade and investment policy analysis of constraints and opportunities aims to improve trade and competitiveness and covers macro economy wide meso sectoral and micro firm or household levels. This multi-level approach is crucial for understanding how current trade and investment policies limit competitiveness and diversification in order to identify more tangible policy action for overcoming such constraints. The individual contributors follow comprehensive applied empirical approaches and each chapter generates knowledge needed to identify key challenges and opportunities focusing on research led policy relevant approaches that enable readers to better understand national bilateral and multilateral cooperation as well as policies for sustainable development in East Africa. The contributors know the EAC context very well as their engagement in policymaking goes beyond the context of the papers they are writing about. The individual chapters were developed as part of a research and capacity building programme under the aegis of ACP and EU that we implemented in 2020-2022. The research project well fits into the frontiers in African Business Research series as we have many African contributors. The contributions matter to policymakers and academic circles for students. The book serves as an excellent guide for understanding international trade and investment theories and gaining up-to-date knowledge on developments in the world economy and their effects on developing countries and SDGs. Trade policy researchers and students will be able to extend theories and empirical data to address new and emerging topics beyond the settings already covered in the book.

This book examines the issue of foreign investor misconduct in modern international investment law focusing on the approach that international investment law as it currently operates has developed towards foreign investor misconduct. The term misconduct is not a legal notion but is used to describe a certain phenomenon, namely a group class of actions. This term is convenient since it makes it possible to introduce and describe the phenomenon as such without a division into concrete types of conduct like abuse of process, violation of national law, corruption, investment contrary to international norms and standards, etc. The term misconduct is intended to embrace various kinds of conduct on the part of foreign investors that the system of international investment law does not accept such as that which it regards as illegal against public policy or otherwise inappropriate and triggers legal consequences. Rarely, however, does international investment law clearly articulate what it considers unacceptable investor conduct and certainly not in any systematic fashion. As such, this book addresses the following questions: what types of investors' conduct are legally unacceptable, what mechanisms are available to deal with unacceptable investors' conduct, and what are the legal consequences?

foreign investors often sustain injuries during violent situations such as riots revolutions civil wars and international armed conflicts there is a great deal of uncertainty about how effective investment treaty protections are in volatile times how they relate to other applicable legal frameworks and how they affect the state security policy and the post conflict transition to peace this book explores how foreign investment is protected in times of armed conflict under the investment treaty regime it does so by combining insights from different areas of international law including international investment law international humanitarian law international human rights law the law of state responsibility and the law of treaties while the protections have evolved over time with the investment treaty regime providing the strongest legal framework for protecting investors yet there has been an apparent shift in treaty practice towards safeguarding a state s security interests jure zrilic identifies and analyses the flaws in the existent normative framework but also highlights the potential that investment treaties have for minimising the devastating effects of armed conflict the book offers an analytical framework for assessing the investment treaty regime in times of armed conflict distinguishing between different paradigms and different types of conflicts crucially he argues that a new approach is needed to appropriately balance the competing interests of host states and investors when it comes to investment protection in armed conflicts this book critically analyses the availability of environmental counterclaims in investment arbitration presented by the respondent host state against the claimant investor it starts from the premise that the conflicting relation between investment law and environmental protection cannot always be avoided yet the instrument of environmental counterclaims in investment arbitration might alleviate such relation throughout its chapters this book addresses the questions about the societal and practical relevance of seeking redress for environmental damage in investment arbitration the functioning of such instrument both in contract based and treaty based investment arbitration the suitability of arbitral tribunals to rule upon environmental issues and the kind of environmental damages that could be redressed most importantly by deconstructing the requirements of jurisdiction connection between main claim and counterclaim and cause of action this book provides the tools for the re conceptualisation of the instrument of counterclaims with the hope of harnessing its utility to achieve appropriate redress for environmental damages caused by foreign investors
