importance of evidence law in both civil and criminal cases. Coverage of state rules and cases demonstrates the need to encourage students to apply what they have learned. Discussion of important cases helps demonstrate the practical aspects of the gathering and use of evidence as well as issues directly pertaining to paralegals as they help prepare a case for trial. This accessible text is built around various evidentiary concepts most relevant to paralegal students throughout the text. The book underscores the practical aspects of the gathering and use of evidence as well as issues directly pertaining to paralegals as they help prepare a case for trial. The book also briefly treats other means of accessing government records including locating publicly available records and using mandatory declassification review (MDR) to obtain previously classified records.

Page vii on the occasion of his 75th birthday, Neil Kaplan's unparalleled influence in the field of international arbitration is celebrated in this book, which comprises contributions from over twenty-five renowned international arbitration practitioners. Kaplan emphasizes the theory underlying evidentiary issues while highlighting real-world examples that are important in both civil and criminal law. The book is constructed as a three-part compendium as follows: the Kaplan Lectures, an annual series established to bring some of the best minds in international arbitration to Hong Kong to address current and practical issues. Key decisions and arbitration awards are rendered by Kaplan with commentaries that make current the issues arising out of these judgments and also provide an in-depth analysis of important issues emanating from his Treaty Arbitration Awards articles. The book showcases the reach of Kaplan's influence through reflections by several of his former assistants who are now making a mark in their own right in the international arbitration community. Arbitration practitioners will welcome this book for its practical analysis of some of the most discussed and debated hot issues in arbitration law and practice. Today, in addition, the commentaries on Kaplan's key decisions offer especially insightful guidance for practitioners academics and students in the field of international arbitration. This book offers a comprehensive article by article legal commentary on the United Nations Convention Against Transnational Organized Crime (UNCOC) and its protocols on trafficking in persons, smuggling of migrants, and trafficking in firearms and ammunition. The convention often referred to by the acronym UNCOC was approved by the UN General Assembly on 15 November 2000 and made available for governments to sign at a high-level conference in Palermo, the heartland of the Italian mafia. For this reason, UNCOC is sometimes also referred to as the Palermo Convention. The protocol entered into force on 29 September 2003. The purpose of UNCOC is to promote cooperation to prevent and combat transnational organized crime more effectively. UNCOC seeks to promote consistency among national legal systems and set standards for domestic laws so that states parties can effectively combat transnational organized crime. UNCOC is supplemented by three protocols: the protocol on trafficking in persons, the protocol against the illicit manufacturing of and trafficking in firearms, their parts and components, and ammunition, and the protocol against the smuggling of migrants by land, air, and sea. UNCOC is supplemented by three protocols, the protocol against the smuggling of migrants by land, air, and sea, the protocol to prevent, suppress, and punish trafficking in persons, and the protocol to prevent, suppress, and punish trafficking in firearms and ammunition.
